

GERMANS SAIL PRIZE INTO NORFOLK HARBOR

Armed German Tramp Steamer Captures British African Liner, Appam, Off the Canary Islands and Prize Crew Sails Her 4,200 Miles—Appam Had Crew of 155 and Carried 160 Passengers—German Prize Crew of 22 Aided by 20 Germans Who Had Been Prisoners.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Norfolk, Va., Feb. 1.—The British liner Appam, which was reported to have been lost off the African coast, arrived in port today, a German prize of war.

It was reported when the Appam steamed into port with a German prize crew on board and the German flag at her masthead, that she had been captured by a German submarine, but several hours later it was learned that she had been taken by an armed German tramp.

The capture was made off the Canary Islands and the vessel crossed the Atlantic, a distance of approximately 4,200 miles, with a prize crew on board and a German commander on the bridge.

Among the persons on board the Appam were passengers taken from other British ships which had been sunk by the armed German tramp.

There were twelve men in the prize crew but they were aided by twenty German civilians, prisoners who had been on board the Appam when she was seized.

When the Appam left Dakar, on the west coast of Africa, for Plymouth on January 11 she carried 160 passengers, twenty German citizens who were being sent to England, for internment, and a crew of 155 men.

Early morning mist hung heavily over the surface of the harbor when the weather beaten Appam steamed slowly into port shortly after 6 o'clock this morning. Sailors on other ships could not believe their eyes when they saw the German flag hanging limp at the masthead.

As soon as it was learned that the ship was British and that she was in command of a German prize crew the port authorities got into communication with the master of the vessel.

In the meantime reports flew thick and fast and it was said that the ship had been captured by a German submarine of the "Dreadnought" type in mid-Atlantic and had been brought across by a score of men.

Rusty Tramp Made Capture.

As soon as the Appam dropped anchor Lieutenant Berg of the German navy hastened ashore to pay his respects to Col. Haynes, U. S. commander at Fortress Monroe. It was not until after this visit that the facts of the capture became known. Then it was learned that a rusty German tramp with guns mounted on her decks intercepted the Appam in the Atlantic steamer lane off the Canary Islands and made a prize of her.

Tramp Destroyed Other Ships.

The tramp had on board 138 prisoners taken from other British ships which she had destroyed, and these were transferred to the Appam.

The German commander had painted out the Appam's name on the ship's stern but the name was plainly visible on her lifeboats.

Collector of the Port Hamilton went on board the Appam shortly after her arrival, to make an investigation.

Lieut. Berg said he was not sure whether the ship would be interned or whether he and his men would put to sea again, taking the chance of capture.

In the meantime representatives of the British government at Washington had been notified and action was started to gain control of the vessel for her British owners.

The Appam was a fine prize. She is a brand new ship of 7,781 tons and with her cargo is valued at $1,500,000. Her commander when she left Dakar, Captain H. G. Harrison, gave this story of the capture:

Captain Tells His Story.

"On Jan. 15, four days after the Appam left port, she was overhauled by a swift, but disreputable looking tramp steamer near the Canary Islands. The tramp, which was recognized as German, opened fire, in the meantime signalling the Appam to heave to. The Appam tried to flee, but the shells from the tramp began falling on board and when several persons had been wounded it was decided to give up.

When the German sailors boarded they boasted that they had sunk seven other British merchant ships and that they had 138 prisoners on their armed ship.

After a council it was decided to transfer the prisoners to the Appam, put a prize crew on board, release the German captives on the Appam and turn the captured vessel's prow toward the United States. Norfolk seemed to offer the best haven so the Appam was headed in that direction. In the meantime Lieut. Berg had had all the passengers and seamen searched, taking their weapons. Then the passengers and sailors were drawn up and addressed by the German officer who told them that they would not be harmed if they offered no resistance. As the Germans were all heavily armed and maintained the strictest vigilance the passengers remained passive.

The name was then painted out and a German who understood wireless was put in control of the outfit. When the Appam turned westward and headed for the United States the tramp conveyed her for a while, keeping a sharp lookout. A British freighter, bound for Australia, was sighted and the tramp made after her, easily overhauling her. She was quickly sent to the bottom.

Four of the Appam's crew were so badly wounded by the tramp's fire that they required medical attention all the way across the Atlantic and are still in serious condition. It is rumored in shipping circles that the tramp which captured the Appam is the mysterious raider that was operating in the Gulf of Mexico about two months ago. At that time a number of British ships reported being fired upon but the raider was never caught.

Submarine Helped.

Persons on the Appam said that the raiding tramp steamer was accompanied by a submarine of the "dreadnought" type.

There was a 3-inch gun on board the Appam for defensive purposes but Captain Harrison said it was not in working order when his ship was taken.

On the other hand the Germans claim that the Appam mounted two guns.

The voyage from the scene of capture to the Virginia coast was made without incident. Ships which passed the Appam gave her no heed, evidently believing she was an ordinary vessel intent upon her own business.

Many of the passengers on the Appam were women and children. They lined the rail this morning as the ship swung at anchor, greatly interested in the activity around them.

There have been two British cruisers patrolling the waters off the American coast but if they were in the vicinity the Appam had no trouble in avoiding them.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 1.—Captured by a German tramp and brought across the Atlantic by part of the crew of the captor, the British liner Appam arrived in port today.

The Appam flew the German flag when she steamed into the harbor. The prize crew had to bring the Appam to the United States as she could not be taken into a German port.

The capture of the British liner upon the high seas and her voyage across the Atlantic forms one of the most thrilling chapters of the great war.

The Appam was on her way from Dakar, French Colony of Senegal, on the west coast of Africa, to Plymouth, Eng., with scores of passengers on board when she was captured.

The captured liner carried a full cargo of freight which had not been disturbed by the German sailors. In entering an American port the Appam had to run the blockade of British warships which have been patrolling the American coast outside the three mile limit since the early days of the war. It is presumed, however, that this patrol has been lately weakened because such an incident as the capture of an Atlantic liner was not believed possible.

A new menace to British navigation has developed. It is impossible to say where German armed tramp steamers may bob up in the paths of the steamers.

There were 133 seamen on the Appam when she sailed from West Africa.

Appam Supposed to Be Lost.

Cable dispatches from London on January 28 stated that grave fears were felt that the Appam had been lost at sea with all on board.

The British steamship Tregentia, upon her arrival at Hull, Eng., late last month, reported picking up an empty life boat at sea on January 16. This lifeboat, which was badly damaged, bore the name "Appam" upon its stern.

The finding of the lifeboat tended to confirm a belief already strong that the Appam had been sunk.

The disappearance of the Appam mystified shipping circles completely. Four days after she left Dakar wireless communication with her suddenly ceased and she disappeared from the face of the seas as completely as though she had been swallowed up.

Never Thought of Capture.

In maritime circles it was believed that the Appam had run into a gale northwest of Madeira and had been wrecked. The suggestion that she had been attacked by a submarine was not advanced. The theory that she had been captured was never thought of. Such a thing was unthinkable.

Appam Worth $1,500,000.

The Appam is a vessel of 7,781 tons and together with the cargo she carried on her present voyage is valued at $1,500,000. She was built at Belfast by Harland and Wolff in 1913 and is practically a brand new boat.

The route of the Appam on her voyage from Dakar to Plymouth lay up the west coast of Africa past the Canary Islands, past Spain and Portugal, through the Bay of Biscay and thence past Ireland.

Passengers Will Be Land.

At the offices of Commissioner of Immigration Caminetti it was stated that the passengers on the Appam would be landed at Norfolk as soon as they could be inspected. They will be turned over to the consuls of their own nationality who will take care of them. It is expected that these passengers and the British crew of the steamer will be sent to England on a liner from New York.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who arrived here from New York this morning, said that he would try to get into touch with the German officer in charge of the prize crew as soon as possible.

British Will Demand Possession.

That the British government will endeavor to recover the Appam for her owners is certain. A representative of the embassy will go to Norfolk at once to look after its interests. Officials said that a peculiar legal situation is certain to arise before the case finally is disposed of.

The British embassy is expected to insist that the Appam is an illegal prize in that she put into a neutral port to avoid recapture and that she should be turned over to her owners.

Secretary Lansing, who will make the decision in the case, said that he was not prepared to indicate what the government will do as yet.

Collector Hamilton sent Quarantine Officer McCaffrey on board the Appam to make an examination as to sanitary conditions and as to the condition of the passengers and crew. Dr. McCaffrey, after a preliminary examination, reported to the collector that four persons on the ship must be removed at once for hospital treatment. He did not say what caused their condition.

Col. Haines, commandant at Fortress Monroe, made a formal report to the collector on the entrance of the Appam into Hampton Roads, although the military authorities did not visit the vessel.

Collector Hamilton asked Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Peters to advise him at once as to the legal status of the Appam and to give him instructions as to what course shall be pursued in handling her. He urged haste.

The Official Procedure.

The treasury department immediately on receiving notification of the Appam's arrival, asked the state department for instructions.

The state department advised that the vessel should immediately be sequestered until a German prize court has decided whether the Appam is a legal or an illegal prize. Under provisions of the Hague convention, the matter must be put up to the nation, whose vessel made the capture.

Should the German court decide that the Appam is a legal prize, which it undoubtedly will do, it is then the duty of this government to order her departure at once, or within a "reasonable length of time," under penalty of permanent internment, or internment until the end of the war.

In the event the German court should decree the Appam an illegal prize, the vessel will at once be released to go her way. The decision of this government is thus contingent upon that of the German prize court.

In the meantime, however, steps will at once be taken for arranging for the comfort of the Appam's passengers. It was considered likely at the state department today that the governments at issue will be asked to make arrangements for the care of them until the legal tangle is unraveled.

Brought 4,200 Miles by Prize Crew.

The Appam was brought approximately 4,200 miles by the prize crew, as she was captured off the Canary Islands.

When the Germans took possession of the liner, Captain H. G. Harrison had to relinquish his command and Captain Berg, of the German crew, took charge.

As soon as the Appam was captured Captain Berg ordered her name painted out and this was done although the names on the lifeboats remained visible. She was rechristened Appen by the Germans.

Came in Like a Ghost.

Early morning mists were mingled with the fog when the captured ship crept ghost-like into the harbor. She looked as though she had been hard usage for there was a big scar upon the plates on her starboard bow just above the waterline.

Sailors upon the other ships in the harbor could not believe their eyes when they saw the German flag hanging limp in the mist. Captain Berg lost no time in getting in touch with the port authorities and in getting in communication with the German vice-consul.

German Commander Reports.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Commander Berg, in charge of the German prize crew on the Appam, at noon communicated with Ambassador von Bernstorff as follows:

"I have the honor to report that I arrived at Hampton Roads with prize ship Appam, a British liner. I have on board 400 passengers, among them the governor of Sierra Leona, many sacks of mail and three thousand tons of goods."

(Signed) "BERG."
Prince von Hatzfeldt, counselor of the embassy, will go to Norfolk to protect German interests there.

PRESIDENT'S CHOICE FOR SUPREME BENCH AND WIFE.

(Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. Brandeis.)

Louis D. Brandeis, noted Boston lawyer and member of several federal arbitration boards in labor disputes, whose nomination as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Lamar caused an upheaval in the Senate is the first Jew to be proposed for membership to the Supreme bench.

He was born in Louisville, Ky., November 13, 1856, and was educated in the public schools of Louisville and in Germany. He was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1871 and in 1877 received the honorary degree of Master of Arts from Harvard University.

He was married to Miss Alice Goldmark of New York in 1891.

JEWISH COMMITTEE WOULD ABOLISH EXPRESS THANKS WATER SUPPLY BOARD

Bennett Bill Said to Have Support of the Real Estate Board of New York City—Holds Scholastic Project Unnecessary.

An Albany despatch to the New York Times says that Senator William M. Bennett has introduced a bill providing for the abolition of the New York City Board of Water Supply. Senator Bennett, whose bill is said to have the support of the real estate board of New York city, takes the view that with the Ashokan dam enterprises practically completed the work of this costly board has been finished. Senator Bennett does not believe that the city at present when its finances are straitened should undertake to acquire an additional water supply from Scholastic county.

"The action of the board of water supply in taking up this project at the present time," Senator Bennett said, "merely shows that there is no limit to the disposition of the board to spend the city's money. At the meeting of the legislators called last Friday, the mayor in his speech said that the city had reached the limits of its power to economize."

"The Merchants' Association in its 1906 report said that the second half of the Catskill project should not be begun until fifteen years after the first half was completed, and that by postponing the commencement of this enterprise the city would save $38,500,000 in interest and sinking fund charges."

"For the last ten years the increase in the consumption of water in the city has been only 55,000,000 gallons or a yearly increase of 5,500,000 gallons in the daily consumption. If we figure that hereafter the average increase will be double, the turning on of the Catskill aqueduct will give the city ample water supply for forty years to come, and it would seem to be good business to postpone this project for at least ten years, but it seems to be hopeless to get any economy in the present city administration."

DEEPER CHANNEL IN HUDSON.

Army Engineers Authorize New Survey Requiring Six Months.

Information received by congressmen from districts within the Hudson valley indicates that the war department engineers realize there is a merit to the demand of Albany for a 27-foot channel in the upper Hudson. They were advised that the board of army engineers has authorized a detailed survey and report on the Hudson with a view of providing the deeper channel. A recent preliminary examination was made by Major McDonough, who recommended that a complete survey be made. The action of the board was to approve of this survey, which will include borings and measurements, and which will probably require six months' time. Then the department will decide whether the deeper channel should be provided. Usually the department approves or rejects a project on the basis of a preliminary survey, but in this case that survey, while indicating merit for the project, was not complete enough, and a detailed survey has been asked for. The preliminary survey also showed that the project is not regarded as inadvisable.

Water Fixtures Being Inspected.

Inspectors O'Neill and Holstein, of the city water department, are still busy making a house to house inspection to ascertain the number of fixtures installed in each house in the city. The work of inspection was started January 17, and so far the inspectors have made a house to house inspection on the following streets: Abeel, Andrew, Abbey, Abrynn, Brewster, Broadway and Augusta. As the inspection is to cover the entire city it will be seen that the city inspectors will have their work cut out for them and it will take fully six months to complete the work. As a general rule the inspectors are meeting with no opposition by householders and in only a few cases have they so far been discourteously received. The work of making this inspection was ordered by the water board at a recent meeting.

Promoted to District Wire Chief.

Thomas White, local wire chief at Newburgh for the New York Telephone Company, has been promoted to the position of district wire chief for the Kingston district. This district includes the territory between Hudson and Highland and extends to Liberty in Sullivan county. Mr. White will remove to this city to make his home.

SLATER BILL TO PROTECT PROPERTY

Restricting Use of Land on Watershed to Form Cause of Action, and Commission to Assess Damages.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 1.—Senator George A. Slater of Westchester county has introduced a bill providing that if any law is passed by the legislature that restricts the use of lands within the watershed, meaning land in Westchester, Putnam, Ulster, Greene and Schoharie counties, the owner of such lands affected thereby shall be empowered to apply to supreme court for the appointment of commissioners in condemnation to assess damages resultant from such restrictive laws. The damages are to be paid by the city of New York.

The bill is aimed at the watershed difficulty in Westchester county.

SELECT BUDS FROM GOOD TREES

George T. Powell, of Ghent, Columbia county, who, orchardists say, is gifted beyond many of his fellows in the science of apple production, made a remark at the afternoon session of the Western New York Horticultural Society in Rochester last week that one grower declared was worth much to him. It concerned the budding of seedlings, a problem of vital importance to orchardists.

"If you wish good fruit, of rich color and fine texture, you must select your buds from trees that produce that kind," said the apple man. "Like produces like."

Mr. Powell said the orchards of this state contained many unproductive trees, and many that yield inferior types of apples, and he emphasized the need for developing orchards that produced high-grade fruit.

"I have been for twenty-five years propagating on my own farm trees from which to select buds, to obtain a maximum production of fixed types in apples of higher quality," said Mr. Powell. "I have three generations of bearing trees so propagated which are producing a high percentage of fine apples, for which the highest prices are paid."

How to Select Buds.

The speaker advised that the buds be taken from trees perfect in point of constitutional vigor and that yielded uniform types of apples of the best quality and that they be used of fine young seedling stock. He told the growers that they might well carry their old orchards along a few years by lowering the tops of the trees and judiciously pruning and spraying them. He thought this would result in a 50 per cent improvement of the apples from old trees.

Professor U. P. Hedrick, horticulturist of the Geneva station, provoked an interesting discussion by his paper on "Dwarf Trees." He stated that a ten years' test of such trees in three orchards made it impossible for him to recommend them to growers. They bore early, but that did not make up for their smaller yield, according to Mr. Hedrick. The dwarf trees come from Europe, cost the grower more to the acre, he said, than American trees, and are more liable to be winter-killed. Other disadvantages of the dwarfs, Mr. Hedrick believes, are the liability of a loaded tree to blow over and the fact that much pruning and other labor are required to keep them true dwarfs.

Mr. Powell disagreed with the Geneva horticulturist. He said that he had 1,200 dwarf apple trees in his orchard which were giving the best satisfaction. He claimed that the fruit from his dwarfs was of finer texture, better color and richer flavor than that of the regular apple trees.

Support of State Auctions.

The state auction method of selling was explained to the convention by J. J. Dillon, commissioner of the department of food and markets. The growers greeted him with enthusiasm. They agreed with his statement that the state auction had returned good dividends to the growers and unanimously passed resolutions in support of further state appropriations for this enterprise.

Eddyville Zinc Company.

According to articles of incorporation filed with the secretary of state and the county clerk, a $1,500,000 corporation will have its main office at Eddyville. It is the Kenefick Zinc Corporation and intends to mine and refine ores and metals. The directors of the company are the following: William Kenefick, Kansas City, Mo.; C. Vernon Jones, Joplin, Mo.; Arthur Day, Garden City, N. Y.; Paul H. Easby, Webb City, Mo.; George M. Pynchon, Greenwich, Conn.; Harry Raymond, New York city, and Clifford Buckmann, Greenwich, Conn.

Recorder's Work in January.

During the month of January $42 in fines and penalties were imposed in recorder's court by Recorder Lang. Of this amount the city receives $17 which was paid to the city treasurer this morning. The remaining $25 goes to the state conservation commission and is the amount to which John Hogan, confessed judgment, Hogan was arrested by Game Protector DeWitt for shooting a pheasant near Rosendale.

AUSTRIA DENIES SINKING OF PERSIA

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The state department announced today that the Austrian government officially has denied the sinking of the British liner Persia, with a loss of two American lives.

It was announced that the official denial of the Austrian government reached the state department a week ago, but through an oversight it was not discovered until today.

LUSITANIA AFFAIR GROWS CRITICAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, via Amsterdam, Feb. 1.—News of unexpected developments in the Lusitania negotiations that threaten their failure, reached the Berlin public today for the first time. It had been generally supposed that all danger of a crisis between America and Germany had been averted by the Berlin government's proffer of reparation for the loss of American lives, and therefore great surprise was caused when it became known that the diplomatic tension had again become acute.

"Germany will yield but little more," was the emphatic assertion made by a prominent German official to the International News Service today.

"There is a limit beyond which Germany cannot go."

This is the German view of the Lusitania situation, secured from an official source.

1.—Germany granted the demand of the United States for reparation for the American lives lost when the liner was destroyed.

2.—Germany has accepted the American idea of submarine warfare and is following it in practice as well as in theory.

3.—While Germany granted the demand for reparation for American lives, it is astonished by the demand of the United States that the destruction of the liner be disavowed.

4.—Germany hopes that the United States will not press the demand for a disavowal.

President Wilson's declaration that "the United States must be prepared for war tomorrow, not the day after tomorrow, but tomorrow" is taken here to have a bearing on the Lusitania situation.

ZEPPELINS MISS MUNITION PLANTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Feb. 1.—Germany's latest air attack against England, carried out last night by the biggest fleet of Zeppelins that has yet assaulted British cities from the sky, is believed to have been directed at the great munitions factories that are now working night and day, as well as against shipyards and railway communications.

The Zeppelins were divided into three groups, one attacking the east coast, another the northeastern coast and the third dropping bombs upon the midland counties.

London was menaced by the Zeppelins which came from the direction of the estuary of the Thames.

The first information given out by the war office was very brief, being confined to the statement that the attack had been confined to the eastern, northeastern and midland counties and that early reports indicated that only small damage had been done.

Although the raid had been anticipated and preparations made for it, it is believed that all of the balloons got away safely.

Weather conditions were favorable for the raid, the sky being covered with a blanket of fog.

Before any bombs were dropped, word of the approach of the air fleet had been signalled inland and people sought shelter while the high angle guns were manned and air scouts went aloft to give battle to the raiders.

It was reported that one of the Zeppelins attempted to drop bombs on the great factories at Birmingham. Most of the ammunition is coming from the great chair of industrial plants at Birmingham.

The raiders evidently intended to attack naval patrol stations at Harlepool, Sunderland, Yarmouth and Norwich, as bombs fell in those vicinities.

The attacking balloons penetrated further into the interior of England on this raid than in any other since the aerial warfare against England was inaugurated by the kaiser.

Early official dispatches to the war office indicated that there were seven Zeppelins in the fleet. Hereafter not more than eight have attacked at any one time.

The raid had the effect of rousing the London press to bitter comment upon the measures taken by the government to protect England from air forays. Most of the papers unite in a demand for a fleet of fifty or more aeroplanes to patrol constantly the eastern and southern coasts and also the air over the chief cities in the interior.

GERMANS SAIL PRIZE INTO NORFOLK HARBOR

Armed German Tramp Steamer Captures British African Liner, Appam, Off the Canary Islands and Prize Crew Sails Her 4,200 Miles—Appam Had Crew of 155 and Carried 160 Passengers—German Prize Crew of 22 Aided by 20 Germans Who Had Been Prisoners.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Norfolk, Va., Feb. 1.—The British liner Appam which was reported to have been lost off the African coast, arrived in port today. A German prize crew of 22, aided by 20 Germans who had been prisoners, captured the ship.

It was reported when the Appam steamed into port with a German prize crew on board and the German flag at her masthead, that she had been captured by a German submarine, but several hours later it was learned that she had been taken by an armed German tramp.

As soon as the Appam was captured Captain Berg ordered her name painted out and this was done, although the names on the lifeboats remained visible. She was rechristened Appen by the Germans.

Came in Like a Ghost.

Early morning mists were mingled with the fog when the captured ship crept ghost-like into the harbor. She looked as though she had been hard usage for there was a big scar upon the plates on her starboard bow just above the waterline.

Sailors upon the other ships in the harbor could not believe their eyes when they saw the German flag hanging limp in the mist. Captain Berg lost no time in getting in touch with the port authorities and in getting in communication with the German vice-consul.

German Commander Reports.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Commander Berg, in charge of the German prize crew on the Appam, at noon communicated with Ambassador von Bernstorff as follows:

"I have the honor to report that I arrived at Hampton Roads with prize ship Appam, a British liner, on board 400 passengers, among them the governor of Sierra Leone, many sacks of mail and three thousand tons of goods. "BERG."

Prince von Hatzfeldt, counselor of the embassy, will go to Norfolk to project German interests there.

JEWISH COMMITTEE WOULD ABOLISH WATER SUPPLY BOARD

There was an enthusiastic meeting of the Kingston Branch of the Jewish War Sufferers' Relief Committee held at the Synagogue Agudas Achim on Sunday afternoon. Additional amounts were reported as received of $78.57. This sum added to the $1,279.87 reported in The Freeman for Thursday evening, brought up the total to $1,358.44. The total expenses were $18.84, leaving a balance of $1,339.60, which sum with the additional gifts reported will be sent to the headquarters of the New York committee this week. The following were reported as additional contributions: Ezra Abrahams, $25; C. W. Anderson, $2; George A. Quigley estate, through Mrs. Amdur, $2; Dr. H. A. Follette, through Miss Etta Furman, $5; Mrs. E. Coykendall, through Miss Helen Stern, $5; Kingston Conservatory of Music, $2. Through an inadvertence the names of the following helpers were omitted in the newspaper reports of Friday: Mr. Levin, who aided in securing funds in Saugerties; Mrs. Abraham, who assisted Mrs. Amdur; Joseph Jacobson and Louis Schen, who assisted Miss Anna Cassler. The meeting appointed a permanent executive committee for the local organization as follows: Chairman, Morris Klein; Rabbi Eckstein; Miss Rose Klein; Miss Etta Furman; Miss Samuel Yallum; Morris Kaplan and Samuel Klein. A committee on resolutions was also appointed as follows: Rabbi Eckstein, Morris Klein, Miss Rose Klein. This committee telegraphed resolutions of appreciation and thanks to President Wilson for the proclamation appointing Thursday, January 27, as the day for contributions for this cause. Resolutions of thanks will also be sent to Mayor Canfield, Mrs. C. N. Reed, Captain Meagher for the use of the armory, the Kingston Consolidated R. R. Company and Superintendent Michael for excusing from school the children who helped in the tag day work; Carl Will and Vivian P. Brenn, for counting the tag day money. One other committee was appointed, Morris Kaplan, Morris Klein, Morris Miller and Abraham Safran, who will endeavor to secure volunteers who will subscribe weekly a certain sum for the relief committee as long as the war shall last. Such subscriptions will be procured among the Jewish people not already so contributing.

Water Fixtures Being Inspected.

Inspectors O'Neil and Holstein, of the city water department, are still busy making a house to house inspection to ascertain the number of fixtures installed in each house in the city. The work of inspection was started January 17, and so far the inspectors have made a house to house inspection on the following streets: Abeel, Andrew, Abber, Aburn, Brewster, Broadway and Augusta. As the entire city is to be covered the work of the inspectors will have their work cut out for them and it will take fully six months to complete the work. As a general rule the inspectors are meeting with no opposition by householders and in only a few cases have they so far been discourteously received. The work of making this inspection was ordered by the water board at a recent meeting.

SLATER BILL TO PROTECT PROPERTY

Restricting Use of Land on Watershed to Form Cause of Action, and Commission to Assess Damages.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 1.—Senator George A. Slater of Westchester county has introduced a bill providing that if any law is passed by the legislature that restricts the use of lands within the watershed, meaning land in Westchester, Putnam, Ulster, Greene and Schoharie counties, the owner of such lands affected thereby shall be empowered to apply to supreme court for the appointment of commissioners in condemnation to assess damages resultant from such restrictive laws. The damages are to be paid by the city of New York.

The bill is aimed at the watershed difficulty in Westchester county.

SELECT BUDS FROM GOOD TREES

George T. Powell, of Ghent, Columbia county, who, orchardists say, is gifted beyond many of his fellows in the science of apple production, made a remark at the afternoon session of the Western New York Horticultural Society in Rochester last week that one grower declared was worth much to him. It concerned the budding of seedlings, a problem of vital importance to orchardists.

"If you wish good fruit, of rich color and fine texture, you must select your buds from trees that produce that kind," said the apple man. "Like produces like."

Mr. Powell said the orchards of this state contained many unproductive trees, and many that yield inferior types of apples, and he emphasized the need for developing orchards that produced high-grade fruit.

There have been for twenty-five years propagating on my own farm trees from which to select buds, to obtain a maximum production of fixed types in apples of higher quality," said Mr. Powell. "I have three generations of bearing trees so propagated which are producing a high percentage of fine apples, of which the highest prices are paid."

How to Select Buds.

The speaker advised that the buds be taken from trees perfect in point of constitutional vigor and that yielded uniform types of apples of the best quality and that they be used of fine young seedling stock.

He told the growers that they might carry their old orchards along a few years by lowering the tops of the trees and judiciously pruning and spraying them. He thought this would result in a 50 per cent improvement of the apples form old trees.

Professor U. P. Hedrick, horticulturist of the Geneva station, provoked an interesting discussion by his paper on "Dwarf Trees." He stated that a ten years' test of such trees in three orchards made it impossible for him to recommend them to growers. They bore early, but that did not make up for their smaller yield, according to Mr. Hedrick. The dwarf trees come from Europe, cost the grower more to the acre, he said, than American trees, and are more liable to be winter-killed. Other disadvantages of the dwarfs, Mr. Hedrick believes, are the liability of a peachy tree to blow over and the fact that much pruning and other labor are required to keep them true dwarfs.

Mr. Powell disagreed with the Geneva horticulturist. He said that he had 1,200 dwarf apple trees in his orchard which were giving the best satisfaction. He claimed that the fruit from his dwarfs was of finer texture, better color and richer flavor than that of the regular apple trees.

Support of State Auctions.

The state auction method of selling was explained to the convention by J. J. Dillon, commissioner of the department of food and markets. The growers greeted him with enthusiasm. They agreed with his statement that the state auction had returned good dividends to the growers and unanimously passed resolutions in support of further state appropriations for this enterprise.

It is the Eddyville Zinc Corporation and intends to mine and refine ores and metals. The directors of the company are the following: William Koneffick, Kansas City, Mo.; C. Vernon Jones, Joplin, Mo.; Arthur Dax, Garden City, N. Y.; Paul H. Eash, Webb City, N. Y.; George M. Pynchon, Greenwich, Conn.; Harry Raymond, New York city, and Clifford Buckmann, Greenwich, Conn.

Recorder's Work in January.

During the month of January $42 in fines and penalties were imposed by recorder's court by Recorder Lank. Of this amount the city receives $17 which was paid to the city treasurer this morning. The remaining $25 goes to the state conservation commission and is the amount to which John Hogan confessed judgment. Hogan was arrested by Game Protector DeWitt for shooting a pheasant near Rosendale.

AUSTRIA DENIES SINKING OF PERSIA

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 1.—The state department announced today that the Austrian government officially has denied the sinking of the British liner Persia, with a loss of two American lives.

It was announced that the official denial of the Austrian government reached the state department a week ago, but through an oversight it was not discovered until today.

LUSITANIA AFFAIR GROWS CRITICAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, via Amsterdam, Feb. 1.—News of unexpected developments in the Lusitania negotiations that threaten their failure, reached the Berlin public today for the first time. It had been generally supposed that all danger of a crisis between America and Germany had been averted by the Berlin government's proffer of reparation for the loss of American lives, and therefore great surprise was caused when it became known that the diplomatic tension had again become acute.

"Germany will yield but little more," was the emphatic assertion made by a prominent German official to the International News Service today.

"There is a limit beyond which Germany cannot go."

This is the German view of the Lusitania situation, secured from an official source.

1.—Germany granted the demand of the United States for reparation for the American lives lost when the liner was destroyed.

2.—Germany has accepted the American idea of submarine warfare and is following it in practice as well as in theory.

3.—While Germany granted the demand for reparation for American lives, it is astonished by the demand of the United States that the destruction of the liner be disavowed.

4.—Germany hopes that the United States will not press the demand for a disavowal.

President Wilson's declaration that "the United States must be prepared for war tomorrow, not the day after tomorrow, but tomorrow" is taken here to have a bearing on the Lusitania situation.

ZEPPELINS MISS MUNITION PLANTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 1.—Germany's latest air attack against England, carried out last night by the biggest fleet of Zeppelins that has yet assaulted British cities from the sky, is believed to have been directed at the great munitions factories that are now working night and day, as well as against shipyards and railway communications.

The Zeppelins were divided into three groups, one attacking the east coast, another the northeastern coast and the third dropping bombs upon the midland counties.

London was menaced by the Zeppelins which came from the direction of the estuary of the Thames.

The first information given out by the war office was very brief, being confined to the statement that the attack had been confined to the eastern, northeastern and midland counties and that early reports indicated that only small damage had been done.

Although the raid had been anticipated and preparations made for it, it is believed that all of the balloons got away safely.

Weather conditions were favorable for the raid, the sky being covered with a blanket of fog. Before any bombs were dropped, word of the approach of the air force had been signalled inland and people sought shelter while the high angle guns were manned and air scouts went aloft to give battle to the raiders.

It was reported that one of the Zeppelins attempted to drop bombs on the great factories at Birmingham. Most of the ammunition which is being produced by England is coming from the great chain of industrial plants at Birmingham.

The raiders evidently intended to attack naval patrol stations at Harlepool, Sunderland, Yarmouth and Norwich, as bombs fell in those vicinities.

The attacking balloons penetrated further into the interior of England on this raid than in any other since the aerial warfare against England was inaugurated by the raiders.

Early official dispatches to the war office indicated that there were seven Zeppelins in the fleet. Hereafter not more than eight have attacked at any one time.

The raid had the effect of rousing the London press to bitter comment upon the measures taken by the government to protect England from air forays. Most of the papers unite in a demand for a fleet of fifty or more aeroplanes to patrol constantly the eastern and southern coasts and also the air over the chief cities in the interior.

AN OLDSMOBILE FOR FIRE CHIEF

The fire chief's new automobile is to be an Oldsmobile, according to the decision of the board of fire commissioners at their meeting Monday night. A thousand feet of fire hose and three nozzles were also purchased.

At the last meeting of the board, the matter of purchasing an auto for the fire chief was referred to a committee with power to investigate the bids offered. After careful investigation of the cars on the market and of the bids submitted from seven local dealers, the committee, of which Commissioner Lahl is chairman, stated that they recommended the purchase of the Oldsmobile from the Stuyvesant Garage. The board voted to purchase the machine.

The contract for the fire hose was awarded to the Eureka Hose Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of Paragon Brand Hose, the quality of which is well known by the board. Although cheaper brands were offered, the commissioners decided to purchase hose that would give guaranteed service. The price of the purchased hose was $1.05 a foot.

The bids for the hose contract were as follows: Eureka Hose Manufacturing Company of Syracuse, 1,000 feet, 3 ply, $1.05; 1,000 feet, double jacket, $1.77; knit single, $.75. All were guaranteed to withstand 400 pounds pressure and to give three years' service.

Goodrich Company of Akron, O., represented by C. E. Hasbrouck, of this city; White King Brand, 2 1/2 inches, $.80; Grey King Brand, 2 1/2 inches, $.75; B. F. G. Brand, 2 1/2 inches, $.75. Guaranteed to withstand 400 pounds pressure and to wear three years.

Fabric Hose Company, New York city; 1,000 feet, Keystone Brand, $1.10 a foot.

The Eureka Company was also awarded the contract for three new fire nozzles.

By awarding the contract for the hose last night the board saved much money because on the first of February, the price of rubber gave promise of rising, according to the agents. Therefore the bids were opened last night, the last day of January.

On the motion of Commissioners Eltinge, Marshall Miller, whose name was taken from the list submitted to the board by the civil service commission last June, was appointed a third grade fireman.

JOHNNY KILBANE.

KILBANE WILL DEFEND TITLE.

Johnny Kilbane will be the next champion to defend his title, meeting George Chaney, the southpaw slammer, at Baltimore on March 17. This will be a real championship bout as the referee will be allowed to name the winner at the end of the fifteen rounds.

Baltimore fans are enthusiastic over Chaney's chances, basing their hopes on the fact that he is able to deal out left hand slams with enough force behind them to fell a middleweight if they land on the right spot. Chaney has rolled up a remarkable record of quick victories. His percentage of knockouts is higher than any other boxer in the ring. Many of his victims were fairly well-known men, but none could be regarded as first class.

As this is to be a championship match the men are to weigh in at 122 pounds, and that is a figure that Chaney has not approached in years.

AN OLDSMOBILE FOR FIRE CHIEF

The fire chief's new automobile is to be an Oldsmobile, according to the decision of the board of fire commissioners at their meeting Monday night. A thousand feet of fire hose and three nozzles were also purchased.

At the last meeting of the board, the matter of purchasing an auto for the fire chief was referred to a committee with power to investigate the bids offered. After careful investigation of the cars on the market and of the bids submitted from seven local dealers, the committee, of which Commissioner Laid is chairman, stated that they recommended the purchase of the Oldsmobile from the Stuyvesant Garage. The board voted to purchase the machine.

The contract for the fire hose was awarded to the Eureka Hose Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of Paragon Brand Hose, the quality of which is well known by the board. Although cheaper brands were offered, the commissioners decided to purchase hose that would give guaranteed service. The price of the purchased hose was $1.05 a foot.

The bids for the hose contract were as follows: Eureka Hose Manufacturing Company of Syracuse, 1,000 feet, 3 ply, $1.05; 1,000 feet, double jacket, $1.77; knit single, $1.75. All were guaranteed to withstand 400 pounds pressure and to give three years' service.

Goodrich Company of Akron O., represented by C. E. Hasbrouck, of this city, White King Brand, 2 1/2 inches, $1.80; Grey King Brand, 2 1/2 inches, $1.75; B. F. G. Brand, 2 1/2 inches, $1.75. Guaranteed to withstand 400 pounds pressure and to wear three years.

Fabric Hose Company, New York city, 1,000 feet, Keystone Brand, $1.10 a foot.

The Eureka Company was also awarded the contract for three new fire nozzles.

By awarding the contract for the hose last night the board saved much money because on the first of February, the price of rubber gave promise of rising, according to the agents. Therefore the bids were opened last night, the last day of January.

On the motion of Commissioners Eltinge, Marshall Miller, whose name was taken from the list submitted to the board by the civil service commission last June, was appointed a third grade fireman.

JOHNNY KILBANE.

KILBANE WILL DEFEND TITLE.

Johnny Kilbane will be the next champion to defend his title, meeting George Chaney, the southpaw slammer, at Baltimore on March 17. This will be a real championship bout as the referee will be allowed to name the winner at the end of the fifteen rounds.

Baltimore fans are enthusiastic over Chaney's chances, basing their hopes on the fact that he is able to deal out left hand slams with enough force behind them to fell a middleweight if they land on the right spot. Chaney has rolled up a remarkable record of quick victories. His percentage of knockouts is higher than any other boxer in the ring. Many of his victims were fairly well-known men, but none could be regarded as first class.

As this is to be a championship match the men are to weigh in at 122 pounds, and that is a figure that Chaney has not approached in years.

EDDYVILLE.

Eddyville N. Y. Feb. 1.—Daniel Black is seriously ill. Don't forget the meeting tonight of the League Cabinet, at the home of the President, A. J. LeFevre.

The dance given at Haber's Evergreen Park by the Altar Society of the Sacred Heart Church was a success, and all report a fine time.

George Higgins, who has been very ill, is somewhat better at this writing.

Walter Snyder, who has been ill with the grip, is again able to be out.

Henry Conway spent the week end with his parents in this place.

The Rev. Mr. Rockbourn preached a very interesting sermon on Sunday, January 30, on "Social and Spiritual Life in the Church." Miss Sarah Burger is 21 of grip.

THREE MEDALS

There are three medals that could be pinned on the Want Ads. In fact, are pinned on them, at least figuratively, every day. The Want Ads are POPULAR, for they appeal to every class of people and are in great demand. The Want Ads are PREFERRED, and this can be proved by glancing over the advertisements in this paper, for you will then see that more people use the Want columns than any other form of advertising.

They are PROLIFIC, for, if you ask four friends who have tried them, you will find you have four more. They are WORTHY, for, if you ask four friends who have tried them, you will find you have four more. ALBANY SPECIALIST

Makes Wonderful Cures

Will be in Kingston

FRIDAY, FEB. 4th
AT 340 BROADWAY

DR. SWINBURNE OF ALBANY.

Specialist in Stomach Trouble, Nerve and Blood Disorders, Heart, Liver and Kidney Affections, Chronic Catarrh, Long Standing Coughs, Asthma and Lung Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Paralysis, Fits, Neurasthenia or other Nerve Troubles, Eczema and Blood Diseases, Special Weakness, Debility, Malnutrition and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

Marvelous Cures Produced

Mrs. John Vanderwall, of Castleton, N. Y., was an invalid for over two years. Doctors said she had Bright's Disease, disorders and heart trouble. There seemed no hope for her case and she was confined to the bed for over a year. On the 12th of March, 1912, Dr. Swinburne, of Albany, was called to see her and by a careful examination found that the other doctors were mistaken in their diagnosis. Dr. Swinburne assured her she could get well. Today she is enjoying good health and able to look after her house work and social duties.

Amsterdam Fireman Cured of Rheumatism.

Henry Cole, of Steamer 2, Fire Company, of Amsterdam, was so crippled from rheumatism that he had to give up work and could only get around with the aid of crutches. After treating a long time with several doctors without satisfactory results he became much discouraged and thought there was no hope for him. His attention having been called to the wonderful work Dr. Swinburne was doing, he decided to make one more effort to obtain relief. To Mr. Cole's great astonishment he found after taking Dr. Swinburne's treatment one month he had no further use for his crutches and after three months' treatment was entirely cured. He is now at work and enjoys perfect health.

Consumption Cured.

Floyd Moore, of Fultonville, N. Y., had suffered a long time with chronic cough, loss of weight and shortness of breath and the local doctors had failed to give him relief. They claimed he had consumption and could not get well. Hearing of Dr. Swinburne he decided to make a last effort to obtain relief, with the result that after five months' treatment he is entirely cured and able to work every day.

Schenectady Boy Cured of Fits.

A remarkable cure is that of Julius Kuger, son of Mrs. H. Martin, of 706 Wall Place, Schenectady, N. Y. He suffered for a long time from attacks of convulsions, which had become so severe that he often had three or four a day. He had been treated by several of the best local doctors without relief and steadily grew worse. Seeing Dr. Swinburne's announcement that he cured cases considered incurable by other doctors, Mrs. Martin decided to see Dr. Swinburne about her son's case with the result that after one month's treatment the spasms were entirely controlled and after three months' treatment the boy was permanently cured.

Another Remarkable Case in Schenectady.

Miss H. Robertson, of 24 Thompson street, had severe stomach trouble, also diagnosed as ulcers of the stomach by her local doctors, and an operation was advised, but after two months' treatment with Dr. Swinburne she is able to eat all ordinary food without distress, is now feeling fine and has gained 18 pounds in weight.

NEWKIRK TAKEN TO LETCHWORTH

Formal proceedings in connection with Charles Newkirk, the sixteen year old boy who was arrested some time ago for stealing a horse and wagon at New Paltz, were ended Monday when Judge Jenkins suspended sentence on the boy and paroled him in the custody of Dr. C. S. Little, superintendent of Letchworth Village at Thiels, Rockland county, to which institution, on the petition of the boy's mother, he was committed.

Letchworth Village is a state institution for the care and development of boys who have committed crimes and misdemeanors or who have become ungovernable by their parents. It is intended primarily for children whose mentality has not been fully developed, and the boys are taught useful pursuits which will make them capable of earning their own livelihood.

There was a decided difference in the appearance in Newkirk Monday and when he was arraigned in county court some time ago. At that time he was dressed in old clothes which were somewhat ragged, and he had a bedraggled appearance. Monday he was dressed in a new suit which had been contributed by some one who had become interested in his case, and his actions indicated that he appreciated the change which had been accomplished in his appearance and intended to look at life in a new way.

Mrs. Laura MacMillan took Newkirk to Letchworth Village this morning.

LINE TUNNEL WITH COPPER.

Catskill Aqueduct Repairs Will Cost $150,000 More.

The fine cracks discovered in the quarter-mile section of the Catskill aqueduct tunnel in Manhattan will necessitate repairs amounting to at least $150,000. In order to cause as little tearing up of the present work as possible a novel method is proposed. The plan is to leave the tunnel itself intact and place within a thin copper lining. In spite of this device, the work will be attended with great difficulties, as the tube is far below the street, and it will be necessary to tear up pavement and covers and remove valves to get access to the section.

The trouble is said to be due to some springs which were not discovered when the tunnel was first laid and for which no allowance was made. It is believed these springs since began to flow and caused seepage into the tunnel. It is expected that the work can be done in five or six months. The tunnel at this point is twelve feet. The specifications call for the use of copper lining 5-64 of an inch in thickness. The sheets are to be joined by brazing and attached to the surface of the existing concrete lining by bolts fastened into the masonry. After completion the tightness of the braided joints is to be tested by light water pressure on the back of the copper lining.

FRENCH BILLIARDIST CHALLENGES HOPPE FOR WORLD'S TITLE.

New York, Jan. 31.—Through the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company Firmin Cassagnol has challenged Willie Hoppe to play for the world's billiard championship. Cassagnol is willing to play either 18.1 or 18.2 style, both titles being held by Hoppe. At the present time Willie is somewhere in the west giving exhibition matches.

In commenting on the prospects of the Frenchman against Hoppe, one of the billiard experts remarked that, while Cassagnol is one of the best players in the world when he is playing the game for fun, his temperament is such that he would be fairly easy for Hoppe playing for money. The challenge Cassagnol has sent is as follows:

"I herewith wish to challenge Willie Hoppe for the championship of the world at the 18.1 or 18.2 billiard style of play. The time and place of holding said match, as well as all other details, to be mutually agreed upon. Inclosed please find check for $100, which I post as forfeit."

The young men so fine, will be taxed a dime. Married men who bring their wives; we'll ask, for both, fifteen and five. Children under ten, a nickel is enough for them. The bachelor, too, will enjoy the fun; two nickels for them, instead of one. Understand, whoever comes, ten cents is the price for every one, excepting children, small, half price for them, that's all. When our entertainment is all through, we hope to so have pleased you; that you will partake of the refreshing cream and home made cake. The dancing is free so please accept the invitations of the fair sex. All join in the fun, for Leap Year has just begun.

The Ice-man Loves Company.

Arrangements are being made by the Fox Film Corporation to stage a part of the scenario for Thelma along the shores of the Hudson in the vicinity of Kingston. The only drawback for the attempt this week was the absence of ice in sufficient quantities to lend realism to the Norwegian atmosphere. An effort will be made later this month.

MANNERCHOR BALL THE USUAL SUCCESS

The forty-eight annual masquerade ball of the Rondout Social Mannerchor was held on Monday evening at Cook's Hall on Railroad avenue, and as usual was a big success. During the evening delightful music for dancing was rendered by Muller's orchestra. The grand march, which opened the evening's festivities, was led by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kubick and Jacob Merkle and lady. From then on the enjoyment reigned supreme and all voted the ball one of the most successful ever held by the organization.

During the evening the ladies' first prize, a $5 gold piece, was awarded to Miss Alice Sutton while the gentleman's first prize, a handsome toilet set, was awarded to James Hicks of Hudson street. The judges were George F. Schumann of Edenville, John G. Salzmann and Valentine Kraus of this city.

It was at an early hour this morning that the dancers finally dispersed to their homes. The committee in charge of the ball deserve great credit for its success.

Miss Alice Sutton, to whom was awarded the prize of $5 in gold, represented a fairy and was in white trimmed with gold and tinsel. She wore a crown of gold and thus arrayed was a popular figure on the ball room floor.

A pleasing program has been prepared and as invitations have been extended to the other uptown societies, a large attendance is expected. At the completion of the business of the evening the executive committee meeting adjourned and a delightful social time was enjoyed by those present.

Editor of The Freeman:
Dear Sir:
Since you have had the audacity to publish the names of a number of bachelors in our city in your Freeman of Saturday evening, January the 29th, would suggest you publish the names of every old maid in Kingston, and furthermore omit her name, her exact age. Hoping to see the list in the near future, I am, Respectfully yours,

The list of speakers at the supper include such men as Mayor Canfield, Pastor Adam Schmidtkonz, of the Spring Street Lutheran Church, Pastor F. P. Wilhelm, of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church, Father Wernuth of St. Peter's Church, and William B. Scott.

Among the invited guests are the officers of the Sick and Aid Society of St. Peter's Church, the officers of the Union Sick and Aid Society, the officers of the Spring Street German Lutheran Sick and Aid Society, the officers of the Livingston Street German Lutheran Sick and Aid Society, the officers of the Wurts Street Lutheran Benevolent Society. The members of the Rondout Social Manchor have also been invited to attend.

February 7 will mark the fiftieth anniversary in the history of this most successful organization and no pains will be spared to make the event one that will long be remembered by those who attend.

Quite the newest wrinkle in motor wear is adaptation of glazed kid to this type of garment. The drooping brimmed hat with its "tam" crown is a charming relief from the usual style of motor hat. The coat is three quarter length, with deep folds falling from the shoulder. Roomy slit pockets and a high bell collar are practical details.

THE DAILY NEWSPAPER

EVERY YEAR EVERY MONTH EVERY DAY

Newspapers Did It

For two years a certain cereal product struggled for a foot-hold.

Its owners spent $100,000 in certain forms of promotion, but the business grew backwards.

For two successive years the books closed with a loss.

Then the policy was changed. An intensive newspaper campaign was hooked up with definite dealer work.

In three months the company was making money and sales were running way ahead.

Manufacturers who would like more details are invited to write to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

The facts will show why the drift of Manufacturers' Advertising is toward the Daily Newspapers.

PLANS FOR NEW LOCAL CHORUS

Plans are under way for the organization of a local chorus to number at least two hundred voices and the membership will be confined to local and suburban residents who will be in a position to attend regular rehearsals which will be held every week until spring, when a concert will be given if the plans are carried through. The new organization will have Floyd H. Vogt as director. Already plans have been made with one of the Metropolitan grand opera stars of New York city, and if enough enthusiasm can be aroused in the project definite arrangements will be made with the opera singer to appear at the concert. Present plans call for rehearsals to be held at the Y. M. C. A. within the next two weeks. The women's voices will be the first drilled and one of the features of the proposed chorus will be the female voices. It is planned to have the chorus act in connection with the Y. M. C. A. Glee Club which was founded three years ago with Mr. Vogt as conductor, and which has steadily grown and now has a permanent place in the musical circles of the city. The program of the proposed concert will be varied and consist of the better class of music. No oratorio will be given. Present plans include the extending of an invitation to the large chorus choir singing at the present series of revival services uptown to join in the work of forming a large chorus.

HENRY LANE WILSON

FORMER U. S. AMBASSADOR TO MEXICO PREDICTS FAILURE OF CARRANZA GOVERNMENT.

Indianapolis, Jan. 31.—Henry Lane Wilson, former U. S. Ambassador to Mexico, who is directing the Belgian Relief Work here, predicts the failure of the Carranza government in Mexico. In spite of this government's recognition, says Mr. Wilson, Carranza cannot hope to establish a firm government in the war-torn country. He says: "The practical obstacles to the success of the Carranza government would be insurmountable even if the character of the actors and settings of the tragedy were different. The country has been swept by five years of devastating revolution. All the restraints of law and order have been broken down. The helpful sides of religion and the church have been swept away. Farms and plantations have been looted and burned and their owners driven into exile. Only 5 per cent of the factories which were running five years ago are in operation today. The railway system of the country is completely destroyed. Even if foreign capital were found ready for hazardous investment the work of reconstruction would be necessarily protracted even under favorable circumstances which cannot be hoped for."

POULTRY FACTS

FUMIGATION OF MUCH VALUE

Not Only Destroys Lice and Mites in Poultry House, But Also Kills Lurking Disease Germs.

Every fall, if not oftener, the poultry building should be thoroughly fumigated, not alone to destroy lice and mites, but to kill disease germs which may lurk in the cracks between boards and in the dust that collects on the timbers. The easiest method is to use the sulphur candles made for the purpose and sold by dealers in poultry supplies. If these cannot be obtained easily, flowers of sulphur, which may be obtained at any drug store and which is the finely powdered form, may be burned on live coals or with paper.

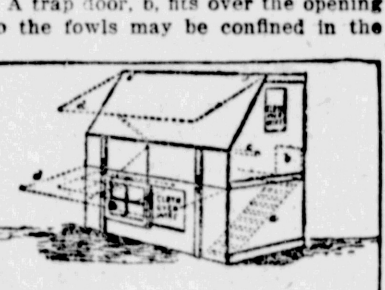

If coals are used a pan half full of sand and dirt may be set on the floor of the house, a shovelful of live coals put in it and half a pint of flowers of sulphur placed on the coals. If it is not convenient to use this method, a layer of lightly crumpled paper may be placed on the sand in the pan, some flowers of sulphur sprinkled on, then more sulphur until four or five layers are made, with sulphur on top. This may be lighted at the bottom and if it burns well, will fill the house full of the fumes. The contents of one pan will fumigate a house ten to fifteen feet wide and twelve to fifteen feet long. For a long building several pans must be used at the same time.

All windows and doors should be kept closed while the sulphur is burning so that the fumes will be confined and will penetrate every part of the house. The house should be kept closed for an hour and then may be opened and aired. In another hour it will be fit for the fowls to use again.

CONVENIENT FOR HEN FLOCK

Piano Box Affords Means of Providing Comfortable Quarters for Chickens in Winter.

For a small flock of fowls a piano box makes a very convenient poultry house. It can be worked over in many different styles. Usually the affair is made only one story high. This is not as economical of space as the double story house illustrated herewith. Such a house will commend itself to those having very limited space. The second floor is placed about a third of the way up from the lower floor. It may be made removable so as to be readily cleaned—simply fit loosely on four or more supports, such as brackets. The lid, d, should fit snugly over the frame and be easily raised by means of hinges. The fowls can reach this floor by walking up the incline, a.

Piano Box for Poultry.

upper floor when necessary. C shows the position of the roosts. These should be on trestles about 18 inches high and be readily removable. D, d, show the hinged fronts which may be raised or lowered at will. At each end is a window covered with wire cloth. In the front is a glass window and also a wire cloth window. The whole poultry house should be covered with roofing paper to keep out the wet. The trap door, b, should be fastened up by means of a string or a wire which passes through the back of the house, and to be attached to a nail to hold it open.—Orange Judd Farmer.

OYSTER SHELL IS NECESSARY

Matter of Economy to Keep Plentiful Supply of Sharp Grit Before Fowls at All Times.

Many feed oyster shells and believe that this is all that is required in the line of grit. Oyster shell is necessary for the welfare of the hens, supplying lime that goes into the formation of egg shell and bone, but it will not altogether answer as a substitute for grit, for the reason that it is too soft. Experiments have proven conclusively that it is a matter of economy to keep a plentiful supply of good sharp grit before the fowls all the time.

When fowls are not supplied with grit much of the food eaten passes through their bodies in an undigested state. Besides, the lack of grit throws an undue strain upon the digestive system, resulting in liver and bowel trouble.

Indication of Indigestion.
The strictly healthy fowls do not have bowel complaint. Looseness of the bowels in fowls is simply an indication of indigestion, or derangement of the digestive organs.

No Males Needed.
The egg flocks need no males as it never pays to keep them where eggs are produced for market use only.

Suggestive Nickname.
It is said that a former postmaster general of Guatemala was nicknamed "mata muertos," which is to say "killer of dead persons." He is supposed to have stabbed the dead body of a murdered president as it lay in the street.

HOW TO DYE IN SPITE OF SHORTAGE OF FOREIGN STUFFS.

Because of the very serious shortage of German dyes and the delay in replacing them by good American ones the price of dyeing any kind of materials has gone up, and the risk must be assumed by the customer. There are, however, lots of things which may be dyed at home for a few cents and which are every bit as satisfactory as those done at a big establishment.

It is therefore the simplest process in the world to dissolve a bottle of red ink in a porcelain kettle full of hot water and add a little salt and then dip all the faded pink silk blouses and all the yellowish white blouses in your wardrobe, which will come out a delicate shell pink. They must be wet when put into the mixture, and they should be vigorously stirred around with two wooden sticks, and when taken out they should be put at once into warm water to rinse out the extra dye.

In using the regulation dyes, which may be bought for 10 cents a package, be sure to follow the directions carefully and remember that a pink blouse put into a very weak solution of blue dye will come out a delicate lavender. A blue blouse that has faded may be dipped in weak yellow dye and will come out a dainty green, while a sand-colored blouse dipped in red dye will be a coral shade.

If you have some soiled white slippers buy enough green and brown water color paints to make a good strong solution dissolved in a cupful of water; then, after cleaning the slippers with gasoline or even soap and water, scrub the paint into them with a stiff nailbrush and you will find yourself possessed of pretty bronze slippers.

In painting slippers remember that they must always have shoe trees in, so that they will neither stretch nor shrink with the wet.

YOUR CORSAGE.

How to Keep Cut Flowers Fresh For Two Days.

Many people find that they cannot wear cut flowers even for one afternoon, because in some cases the body heat seems to wilt them. But if this can be avoided it is quite possible to find a bunch almost as fresh the second day as the first if they are properly guarded overnight. Keep the box that they came in, and when you take them off hold the stems under running water for a few minutes, taking care not to wet the flowers themselves. Then wrap them up in oiled paper and put them in the refrigerator or in a covered box outside near the window. This treatment seems to restore the flowers and hold in the delicious odor, which so soon becomes musty and rank if they are kept unwrapped in a close room.

Some people think a pinch of salt in the water will keep cut flowers fresh longer, and so it does in some cases. In others it seems to change the colors a little. With roses it is successful, but not so much with violets. A piece of gum camphor is said to be an excellent preservative in the water, and others advocate a small lump of charcoal. But in any case the water should be changed daily and the flowers put in a cool place overnight.

How to Make Fudge That Is Real Fudge.

Two squares of chocolate, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of milk; melt these; a large piece of butter, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Boil until it forms a ball in water. After removing from the stove put a scant tablespoonful of cream in the fudge and stir a few minutes. This makes it smooth and creamy. Just before the fudge is done put in a cupful of chopped walnuts or one-half cupful of raisins. For a change pour half the fudge on a buttered dish and over that a layer of marshmallows, then the rest of the fudge.

How to Transfer Feathers From One Pillow to Another.

First soap well the inside of the new case with a cake of soap only just barely moistened. Then sew the case up, leaving an opening just large enough to allow the feathers to pass in easily. Then open a space in the old case exactly the same size and sew the two together. The feathers can then be passed from the old case to the new one without any mess whatever.

How to Remove Iodine Stains From Household Articles.

Tincture of iodine is a very common household remedy. As we all know, it makes a most horrible stain if it is accidentally spilled on our clothing or any fabric. Immediately after such an accident the articles stained should be immersed in water to which have been added about two teaspoonfuls of plain ammonia to the gallon of water.

ARMANDE LAVERGNE. QUINCE FILM SERVICE

FRENCH CANADIAN NATIONALIST LEADERS OPPOSE ENLISTMENT.

Quebec, Jan. 31.—Armande Lavergne, the great Nationalist leader among the French in Canada, is outspoken in his sentiments against French-Canadian enlistments to aid England in the war. Lavergne says the French in Canada should not enlist until they receive their rights from England, that the French-Canadians owe nothing to England and have twice saved Canada in wars. Small notice, it is said, is taken of Lavergne's opposition, due to the fact that the Canadian government does not wish to give the Germans the opportunity of declaring that there is revolution in Canada. Lavergne is a great speaker and has a large following.

How to Tell Parcel Post Charges.

If you know the zone in which is located the postoffice to which you desire to send a parcel post parcel you may figure out the postage required by a simple method.

If the office is in zone No. 1 or No. 2 add to the figure or figures representing the weight the numeral 4. If the weight is in pounds the postage will be 14 cents; if it is five pounds the postage will be 9 cents, and if it is one pound the postage will be 5 cents.

If the office is in zone No. 3 multiply the weight by 2 and add 4.

If in zone No. 4 multiply by 4 and add 3.

If in zone No. 5 multiply by 6 and add 2.

If in zone No. 6 multiply by 8 and add 1.

If in zone No. 7 multiply by 10 and add 1.

If in zone No. 8 multiply by 12.

This scheme is good for packages up to and including twenty pounds. It was worked out by an ingenious attaché of the Chicago postoffice.—Farm Life.

"Dear Old Ladies" and Other Kinds.

There are as many kinds of old ladies as there are girls, men, automobiles, books and remedies for a cold. There are kindly old ladies, ill-natured old ladies, sharp old ladies, witty old ladies, stupid old ladies, musty-fusty old ladies, dainty old ladies, wise old ladies, silly old ladies, Whistler's mother old ladies, Betsy Trotwood old ladies, white-spotted old ladies, churchy old ladies, sit-by-the-fire old ladies, tangoing old ladies and old ladies who don't wish to be called old ladies at all.

Nowadays most of them are so busy working in public causes that they have not time to protect their own interests as they should. But let us hope that after awhile they will organize a new association, to be called the Society For the Promotion of Distinctive Characterizations For Old Ladies, and that it will have displayed prominently on its banners the slogan "Down With the Word 'Dear!'"—Scribner's.

Celts Discovered Soap.

Soap appears to have been discovered by the Celts, for the name is derived from the Celtic word "sebon."

It seems strange that such early worders should have been familiar with soap, but if they had the name the must certainly have had the article in mind. Moreover, it is quite conceivable that nomads using wood fire could accidentally discover soap. Almonds have a certain amount of mineral salts, chiefly those of potash, in their fibers. After burning these are left in the form of carbonate, which, when mixed with water, produces a heavy shower of rain would dissolve into a liquid lye, wanting only the grease from an overturned caldron of broth to form soap. A dash of natural curiosity on the part of the woman who cleaned up the mess would reveal the cleansing properties of the new substance.—London Mail.

Chateaubriand a Lover of Cats.

Many famous men have loved cats. Cardinal Richelieu and Victor Hugo among others—but probably the animal's most eloquent defender was Chateaubriand, the French writer.

"I love in the cat," he said, "that independent and almost ungrateful temper which prevents it from attaching itself to any one, the indifference with which it passes from the salon to the hearthstone. The cat lives alone, has no need of society, does not obey except when it likes, pretends to sleep that it may see more clearly and scratches everything it can scratch."

And the great writer on another occasion went so far as to express a hope that by long comradeship with cats he was acquiring some of their characteristics.—London Times.

Pasteur's Gift to Society.

The normal death rate of civilized countries before the days of Pasteur was about thirty to a thousand of the population. Today it is about fifteen to a thousand in the more progressive nations. Think what a saving of fifteen lives a year for every thousand of population means when applied to half the earth! It means the averting of 12,000,000 untimely deaths annually. It means more than 25,000,000 cases of illness avoided. It means health and happiness in 20,000,000 homes rather than disease and distress.—Bulletin of National Geographic Society.

STATE CONVENTION DELEGATES ELECTED

Pursuant to the recent call issued by the Republican State Committee the county met at the court house today for the purpose of electing six delegates and six alternates from the first assembly district, and five delegates and five alternates from the second assembly district, who will attend the Republican State Convention to be held at Carnegie Hall, New York City, on Tuesday, February 15th, at which time the convention will select the four delegates-at-large who will be recommended to the National Convention to be held in Chicago in June. The four delegates-at-large are known as "The Big Four," and will be voted for by the enrolled Republican voters of the state.

The meeting of the committee was held in the court room and was called to order by County Chairman Philip Elting, who stated the purpose of the meeting. Secretary John W. Eckert of the County Committee acted as secretary of the meeting.

On motion of Martin Cantine of Saugerties, seconded by Fred Sahloff of this city, the following delegates and alternates were elected from the first assembly district:

Delegates—Senator Charles W. Walton of Kingston, Myron Bedell of Saugerties, Philip Elting of Kingston, Recorder Andrew Lang of Kingston, S. Frank Ten Eyck of Hurley, Cornelius DuMont of Hurley.

Alternates—Carl G. Fischer of Kingston, Harry Wells of Saugerties, Joel Brink of Lake Katrine, Samuel B. Schwarzwald of Chichester, J. Charles Sawyer of Kingston, Wallace Shumway of Woodstock.

On motion of Supervisor Philip Schantz of Highland, seconded by Supervisor William W. McKelone of Wallkill, the following delegates and alternates were elected from the second assembly district:

Delegates—Hon. Frank J. LeFevre of New Paltz, Harcourt J. Pratt of Highland, Charles Schoonmaker of Esopus, W. Kelly Shook of Poughkeepsie, William S. Hartshorn of Plattkill.

Alternates—Egbert Ellsworth of Esopus, DeWitt Barley of Rochester, Josiah H. Phinney of Wallkill, Jay H. Heaton of Plattkill, Edward Young of Milton.

Red Tape of the Election Law.

The delegates-at-large will be voted for at the April primary. At the same time the voters will elect two district delegates and two alternates to attend the national convention in June. Each district delegates and alternates will be elected at meetings of the congressional district delegates to the state convention in New York City to be held at the same time as the state convention on February 15th.

At the April primary, enrolled Republican voters will also vote for state committeemen and county committeemen. These committeemen were voted for at the primary held last September, and it was assumed by everyone that the committeemen had been elected for a full term of one year, but the election law which was passed four years ago provides that in years in which a president is elected, state committeemen and county committeemen shall be elected at the spring primary, which is held in April. It will be necessary to file nominating petitions with the board of elections, the same as was done last fall, and the petitions must contain the names of at least three per cent of the enrolled voters of the districts, who must sign the petitions in the presence of a notary public or a justice of the peace.

Under the constitutional provision for reapportioning the senators and assemblymen, as the result of the last state census, Ulster county is 638 short in the population, exclusive of aliens, necessary to entitle the county to two assemblymen as apportioned according to the ratios of population. After the first apportionment is made for assemblymen according to the ratios of population, the remaining assemblymen are apportioned according to remainder of population, and considerable figuring has been done to ascertain whether Ulster county will have a second assemblyman under the method of apportionment according to remainder.

Republican state committeemen are elected from assembly districts. Under the existing apportionment, Ulster county has two members of the Republican State Committee. If reapportionment is made by the legislature before the April primary and Ulster county is given one assemblyman, which is probable, there may be a question in regard to the election of one or two state committeemen from Ulster county. If the re-apportionment bill is not passed by the legislature until after the primary, two state committeemen will be elected from Ulster county.

The condition arising under the constitutional provision relating to reapportionment, and under the election law, as above, was stated to the committee by Chairman Elting.

Supervisor Joseph H. Vanderlyn of New Paltz, on behalf of Hon. Frank J. LeFevre, stated that if Ulster county should be entitled to only one member of the state committee, Mr. LeFevre would resign as committeeman from the Second Assembly District, in favor of Mr. Elting, who is state committeeman from the First Assembly District.

On account of the uncertainty as to when the re-apportionment bill will be passed, on motion of Theodore B. Cornwell of Saugerties, the committee recommended Mr. Elting for election at the April primary, and state committeemen from the First District, and Hon. Frank J. LeFevre as state committeemen from the Second District, in case there is no change in apportionment before the April primary. The committee adjourned and later were the guests of Chairman Elting at dinner at the Stuyvesant. The members of the Republican county committee are as follows: Denning, 1—Frank L. Bennett; 2, Allen G. Dean.

Several Americans are said to have been on the train that was held up and it is also reported that the Villistas took from the train and shot to death General Tomas Oroles, a former adherent of Francisco Villa who had surrendered to Carranza.

The Villistas looted the express car on the train and forced the passengers to give up all their valuables. One rumor says that they got more than $50,000 in booty.

The hold-up occurred at Laguna, less than 50 miles north of Chihuahua City and in a district which the Carranza officials claim to be safe for foreigners.

The attack on the railroad was taken in El Paso to indicate that Villistas had moved eastward from western Chihuahua. The Carranza vice-consul in El Paso, Senor Sereno Y Bravo, said that energetic measures would be taken to protect the railroad and that it would be impossible for the Villistas to make more than a brief raid in the Laguna district.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

The 1916 auto license plates, which were required to appear on autos today are a great contrast to those of last year. The harmonious blending of blue with a cream background is very pleasing to the eye.

auto "UybaWnob" Today was the day when the new 1916 automobile number plates were supposed to blossom forth on the cars about town, but a large majority of the automobilists of this city had not received their number plates as yet. No arrests were made today by the police of automobilists using the 1915 plates, but it is likely that arrests will be made from now on unless a machine carries the new plates, as the police have no discretionary power in the matter. Unless a driver wishes to be put to the inconvenience of being rounded up by the police it would be the best policy not to run a car until it carries the new plates.

The Evolution of a Railroad. An illustrated booklet has been issued by the New York Central railroad giving the history of that company as at present constituted. The February meeting of Wilkwyck Chapter, D. A. R., will be held at the Chapter House on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. The local board meeting will be at 2 o'clock. In Appreciation of Festival. The Kingston Symphony Society feel much gratified that the public generally are showing so much interest in their first concert, to be given this season on Monday next at the high school auditorium. All who attended the music festival, given last spring by the Kingston Symphony Society know and appreciate what both the symphony orchestra concert and another festival will mean for the city of Kingston. And it will be in a large measure, as this concert next Monday is patronized, that the society will know just how much their work in the past really has been appreciated. Furthermore the sale of tickets for this coming concert, or for the entire course, will show just how much interest, financially and artistically will be taken in a festival this coming spring. The general support of the people of Kingston and vicinity will mean the ability to secure higher priced, and therefore more noted as well as greater artists for another festival, all of which will be up to the people. There will be one slight change as to admission to the afternoon public rehearsal of the concert this year. It will be this. All persons other than school children and teachers will be asked to pay 25 cents admission in the afternoon. Remember the time for exchanging patron and subscriber tickets. Tomorrow, after nine in the morning, patrons may exchange their tickets at E. Winter's Sons Music Store on John street, or at the Connelly Drug Store on the Strand. Subscribers may exchange their tickets at the same places on Thursday, and on Friday and thereafter until the time of the concert, single tickets may be purchased at either place and at the drug store of Maben and Walker on Broadway.

Sotaknashade Club. Mrs. Henry F. Reynolds entertaining the Sotaknashade Club at her home on Smith avenue Monday afternoon. Considerable routine business was transacted, and final arrangements were made for the club taking charge of the candy table at the coming Federation supper to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday afternoon and evening. Mrs. Leighton had the chief paper for the day, her subject being "Mark Twain," and an exceedingly interesting and entertaining paper it was. Mrs. Leighton dwelt at some length on the deserved popularity of this writer, and told of his various experiences in life, through which he was given an unusual opportunity to gain a rare insight into human character in various and diverse walks of life. Shrewdness as well as humor were characteristics of Mark Twain. "Huckleberry Finn," "Pudding Head Wilson," "Tom Sawyer," were mentioned as among the best known of his writings, but the club found so much of interest and pleasure in Mark Twain's writings that it was suggested that all of his works were well worth reading. Mrs. William J. Cranston had the second paper on "The Public Health Movement," which was very instructive and illuminating. Beginning with an account of Dr. Pasteur and his work, the paper traced the various public health steps, through inspection of milk; purifying of drinking water; quarantine in cases of measles, scarlet fever and diphtheria to the destruction of the germ-laden fly and mosquito. Paralleling the public health movement was a reduction in the death rate, and the almost unbelievable improvement of sanitary conditions in Cuba and Panama were described. Local and foreign health conditions were given, the advantages of school children according to co-operation on the part of the parents with the public health authorities was emphasized. Next Monday the club will meet with Mrs. G. L. Rice, at her home, No. 66 Downs street.

Platt has Reply for Fatherland. In a letter to the newspaper, Fatherland, Congressman Edmund Platt, of Poughkeepsie states his position on the administration's methods of dealing with the submarine situation. The letter reads as follows: January 17, 1916. Editor of The Fatherland: My attention has been called to a statement in The Fatherland to the effect that President Wilson is practically without friends in Congress save Lodge, Gardner and "other members who are interested in booming the munitions trade or inspired by insane hatred of Germany," as Platt, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in the Lower House, who wants to see Germany effaced from the face of the earth for the mere gratification of a morbid feeling of bitterness. Now I am very much at loss to know where any such idea as that could have come from. I have made no speeches on the foreign policy of the administration, nor have I any desire to see Germany effaced from the face of the earth, nor am I particularly friendly to the President's policy. I think, however, as I have said in my newspaper, that when the President says he is going to hold somebody—no matter whom—to a strict accountability for something, he ought to do it, and he hasn't. Now you keep at him on one side of this question, and let some of the rest of us keep at him for not doing what he declared that he was going to do, and between us we may make some impression. Yours very truly, EDMUND PLATT.

APPAM PROBLEM A SERIOUS ONE

No Precedents to Follow—Hague Convention Made Provisions Covering the Case but Britain Did Not Subscribe to Them.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 1.—What is expected to prove one of the most serious complications of the European war so far as this government is concerned developed today. The British merchant steamer Appam, previously believed lost at sea, reached Norfolk in charge of a German prize crew. Her final disposition will present to this government a number of very serious problems. This was the first prize of the European war to enter a United States port.

So serious was the situation that Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Peters, in charge of all matters affecting neutrality, referred the entire problem to Secretary of State Lansing. He recommended that the Appam shall be sequestered in Hampton Roads until her exact status shall have been determined. There are no precedents to follow in this case. The Hague convention carried an agreement which would declare the case but officials here declared that Great Britain did not subscribe to this particular finding and that Germany did so with reservations.

It has been agreed however, that this government shall stand on the letter of The Hague agreement. This provides that the question of whether the Appam is a legal prize shall be referred to Germany which will have a prize court reach a decision. There is not the slightest doubt that the decision will be that the liner was a lawful prize.

Then the question of disposition will become acute. The Hague agreement says that a "lawful prize" coming into a neutral port must leave within a reasonable time, otherwise it shall be interned.

On the Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, conferred with Secretary Lansing regarding the status of the Appam. He refused to make any statement on leaving the department but it was learned that he agreed with the secretary of state that for the present at least the Appam must be considered as a lawful German prize.

Officials at the embassy said they had no doubt that the steamer will be interned in American waters until the end of the war. The question of the final disposition then will become a matter for diplomatic exchanges. The embassy cabled the British Admiralty that the guard of British cruisers off the Virginia Capes should immediately be renewed so that if the Appam should be ordered out by the United States and her German commander should decide to take a chance and do as she could be captured.

Collector Hamilton at Norfolk notified Washington officials this afternoon that one of his representatives boarded the Appam just before noon and made a cursory inspection. He reported that the Germans in charge of the vessel were very reticent concerning the details to be learned.

In Appreciation of Festival. The Kingston Symphony Society feel much gratified that the public generally are showing so much interest in their first concert, to be given this season on Monday next at the high school auditorium. All who attended the music festival, given last spring by the Kingston Symphony Society know and appreciate what both the symphony orchestra concert and another festival will mean for the city of Kingston. And it will be in a large measure, as this concert next Monday is patronized, that the society will know just how much their work in the past really has been appreciated. Furthermore the sale of tickets for this coming concert, or for the entire course, will show just how much interest, financially and artistically will be taken in a festival this coming spring. The general support of the people of Kingston and vicinity will mean the ability to secure higher priced, and therefore more noted as well as greater artists for another festival, all of which will be up to the people. There will be one slight change as to admission to the afternoon public rehearsal of the concert this year. It will be this. All persons other than school children and teachers will be asked to pay 25 cents admission in the afternoon. Remember the time for exchanging patron and subscriber tickets. Tomorrow, after nine in the morning, patrons may exchange their tickets at E. Winter's Sons Music Store on John street, or at the Connelly Drug Store on the Strand. Subscribers may exchange their tickets at the same places on Thursday, and on Friday and thereafter until the time of the concert, single tickets may be purchased at either place and at the drug store of Maben and Walker on Broadway.

Sotaknashade Club. Mrs. Henry F. Reynolds entertaining the Sotaknashade Club at her home on Smith avenue Monday afternoon. Considerable routine business was transacted, and final arrangements were made for the club taking charge of the candy table at the coming Federation supper to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday afternoon and evening. Mrs. Leighton had the chief paper for the day, her subject being "Mark Twain," and an exceedingly interesting and entertaining paper it was. Mrs. Leighton dwelt at some length on the deserved popularity of this writer, and told of his various experiences in life, through which he was given an unusual opportunity to gain a rare insight into human character in various and diverse walks of life. Shrewdness as well as humor were characteristics of Mark Twain. "Huckleberry Finn," "Pudding Head Wilson," "Tom Sawyer," were mentioned as among the best known of his writings, but the club found so much of interest and pleasure in Mark Twain's writings that it was suggested that all of his works were well worth reading. Mrs. William J. Cranston had the second paper on "The Public Health Movement," which was very instructive and illuminating. Beginning with an account of Dr. Pasteur and his work, the paper traced the various public health steps, through inspection of milk; purifying of drinking water; quarantine in cases of measles, scarlet fever and diphtheria to the destruction of the germ-laden fly and mosquito. Paralleling the public health movement was a reduction in the death rate, and the almost unbelievable improvement of sanitary conditions in Cuba and Panama were described. Local and foreign health conditions were given, the advantages of school children according to co-operation on the part of the parents with the public health authorities was emphasized. Next Monday the club will meet with Mrs. G. L. Rice, at her home, No. 66 Downs street.

Platt has Reply for Fatherland. In a letter to the newspaper, Fatherland, Congressman Edmund Platt, of Poughkeepsie states his position on the administration's methods of dealing with the submarine situation. The letter reads as follows: January 17, 1916. Editor of The Fatherland: My attention has been called to a statement in The Fatherland to the effect that President Wilson is practically without friends in Congress save Lodge, Gardner and "other members who are interested in booming the munitions trade or inspired by insane hatred of Germany," as Platt, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in the Lower House, who wants to see Germany effaced from the face of the earth for the mere gratification of a morbid feeling of bitterness. Now I am very much at loss to know where any such idea as that could have come from. I have made no speeches on the foreign policy of the administration, nor have I any desire to see Germany effaced from the face of the earth, nor am I particularly friendly to the President's policy. I think, however, as I have said in my newspaper, that when the President says he is going to hold somebody—no matter whom—to a strict accountability for something, he ought to do it, and he hasn't. Now you keep at him on one side of this question, and let some of the rest of us keep at him for not doing what he declared that he was going to do, and between us we may make some impression. Yours very truly, EDMUND PLATT.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Feb. 1.—"The happiest moment of my life."

"Wild Bill" Donovan, who is serving time as manager of the Yankees, paused, looked off into space for a moment or so, and then his face beamed.

"Why, I lived that last summer in Detroit, when I accomplished what some folks claimed was the impossible—the striking out of Ty Cobb, with the bases full," answered "Wild Bill."

"Cy Pieh started the game and was knocked out of the box. I didn't have any other pitchers to shove in, so I went in myself. I passed the first batter. The next one went out on a fly. So did the third. I hit the fourth batter in the ribs with a round house curve, and Detroit hitter.

Up Came Tyros.

"Then came Ty Cobb. He was grinning and the crowd was kidding me in a good natured way. I shot up one to Ty and it was wide. The next one was wide. Ty kidded me by asking me why didn't I put 'em over. The crowd was giving me merry ha-ha's and telling me that 'you used to be a pitcher, Bill, but that was forty years ago.'

"Well, then I hitched up my little pants and tightened my belt. I shot the next ball over for a called strike. I put the next one in the groove and Ty didn't make a swing at it. It was strike two. Ty fouled off the next two.

"With the count two-two, Ty probably figured that I'd waste a ball in an effort to get him to swing at it. But I fooled him. I threw a round house curve—and right into the groove. Ty made a vicious swing at it—and missed.

"I had struck out Ty Cobb with the bases full, and the ovation that I got that Sunday following that little trick was the greatest that I was given to me during all my baseball career.

Cobb's Abili.

"And let me tell you this little Bill was sort of proud about that little stunt."

"Did Ty have any comment to make afterwards?"

"Not to me, but I hear that he said to one of his teammates that the reason he fanned was because Cy Pieh had such a crazy delivery that it threw him off his stride and he wasn't back in it until after he faced me that first time."

Bill paused a moment.
"The second happiest period was in Washington last summer," he added. "Carroll Brown worked for us and was knocked out of the box along about the fourth or fifth inning. The game seemed hopelessly lost for us and so I signalled that I was going to pitch.

"When I walked into the box Old Clark Griffith began to give me the ha-ha and the razzle dazzie, he yelled something about the 'Old Men's Home' at me and told his boys that 'here's where me make a million runs.'

"Well, now, you know I'm not a pitcher I used to be. The old whip has stiffened up a bit through added years and lack of steady work. But I haven't forgotten how to throw twisters, nor have I forgotten some of the weaknesses of some of the clubbers.

"And so I worked on the weaknesses of those Washington hitters, with Griff taunting me and with the crowd yelling something about 'has been' at me. I worked four full innings and struck out seven of those Washington clubbers. When I began mowing down the boys Griff's yell became fainter and fainter and when I'd annexed six scalps Griff had become almost tongue-tied.

"In the last inning Clyde Milan, the slinger of the Senators, came up. Griff found his vocal apparatus again and began yelling:

"This old guy hasn't got a thing, Clyde; not a thing. Knock the ball out the lot."

"And then Griff yelled at me:

"Giving Griff the Ha-ha.

"Those other boys had orders to strike out—out so as to make you feel good, you old has-been, but here's this boy Milan who hasn't got any such orders. He's going to show you just what we all could do if we wanted to.

"Milan," continued Bill, "is one of those boys who make a pitcher work. He must have the ball over the plate. He's got almost unerring judgment as to the good ones and the bad ones. I knew I was up against a tough bird, but I was willing to risk putting my arm on the blink for all time in an effort to fan him, and get the last laugh on Griff.

"I shot the first one over in the groove—and Milan swung and missed. He fouled the second and then just as he was figuring that I'd waste one I shot it up to him on a dead line. It caught him almost unaware. He swung—but too late and Milan was out on strikes.

"That was a happy day for Old Bill."

Wood's Team Wins Again.

Wood's team defeated Webster's bowling team for the second time last night at the Y. M. C. A. alleys by the scant margin of two pins. This was the second in the ten game series between the teams and was the closest match yet bowled on the alleys.

The winners started off with a big score in the opening frame and, although the losers trailed close behind, they could not overcome the lead. Webster's clan tallied more in the last three frames than their opponents but their score was not large enough to nose out the winners.

Webster was high man for his crew and Frank Thompson and Hills bowled high scores for the winners. Thompson having an average of 184 for the match. To Wood fell the honor of having the highest single game with a score of 203.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, Jan. 31.—The Rev. Mr. Chase of Kingston occupied the pulpit of the Reformed Church the past Sunday morning. He took his text from Heb. 4:14, and Heb. 2:18. Seeing then that we have a great high priest that is passed into the heavens, Jesus, the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession, for in that He Himself hath suffered, being tempted he is able to succor them that are tempted. The thought he brought out most clearly was temptation, and the way to resist it.

ALBANY SPECIALIST

Makes Wonderful Cures
Will be in Kingston
FRIDAY, FEB. 4th
AT 340 BROADWAY

DR. SWINBURNE OF ALBANY.

Specialist in Stomach Trouble, Nerve and Blood Disorders, Heart, Liver and Kidney Affections, Chronic Catarrh, Long Standing Coughs, Asthma and Lung Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Paralysis, Fits, Neuropathia or other Nerve Troubles, Eczema and Blood Diseases, Special Weakness, Debility, Malnutrition and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

Marvelous Cures Produced

Mrs. John Vanderwall, of Castle-ton, N. Y., was an invalid for over two years. Doctors said she had Bright's Disease, disorders and heart trouble. There seemed no hope for her case and she was confined to the bed for over a year. On the 12th of March, 1912, Dr. Swinburne, of Albany, was called to see her and by a careful examination found that the other doctors were mistaken in their diagnosis. Dr. Swinburne assured her she could get well. Today she is enjoying good health and able to look after her house work and social duties.

Amsterdam Fireman Cured of Rheumatism.

Henry Cole, of Steamer 2, Fire Company, of Amsterdam, was so crippled from rheumatism that he had to give up work and could only get around with the aid of crutches. After treating a long time with several doctors without satisfactory results he became much discouraged and thought there was no hope for him. His attention having been called to the wonderful work Dr. Swinburne was doing, he decided to make one more effort to obtain relief. To Mr. Cole's great astonishment he found after taking Dr. Swinburne's treatment one month he had no further use for his crutches and after three months' treatment was entirely cured. He is now at work and enjoys perfect health.

Consumption Cured.

Floyd Moore, of Fultonville, N. Y., had suffered a long time with chronic cough, loss of weight and shortness of breath and the local doctors had failed to give him relief. They claimed he had consumption and could not get well. Hearing of Dr. Swinburne he decided to make a last effort to obtain relief, with the result that after five months' treatment he is entirely cured and able to work every day.

Schenectady Boy Cured of Fits.

A remarkable cure is that of Julius Kuger, son of Mrs. H. Martin, of 706 Vail Place, Schenectady, N. Y. He suffered for a long time from attacks of convulsions, which had become so severe that he often had three or four a day. He had been treated by several of the best local doctors without relief and steadily grew worse. Seeing Dr. Swinburne's announcement that he cured cases considered incurable by other doctors, Mrs. Martin decided to see Dr. Swinburne about her son's case with the result that after one month's treatment the spasms were entirely controlled and after three months' treatment the boy was permanently cured.

Another Remarkable Case in Schenectady.

Miss H. Robertson, of 24 Thompson street, had severe stomach trouble, also diagnosed as ulcers of the stomach by her local doctors, and an operation was advised, but after two months' treatment with Dr. Swinburne she is able to eat all ordinary food without distress, is now feeling fine and has gained 15 pounds in weight.

NEWKIRK TAKEN TO LETCHWORTH

Formal proceedings in connection with Charles Newkirk, the sixteen year old boy who was arrested some time ago for stealing a horse and wagon at New Paltz, were ended Monday when Judge Jenkins suspended sentence on the boy and paroled him in the custody of Dr. C. S. Little, superintendent of Letchworth Village at Thiels, Rockland county, to which institution, on the petition of the boy's mother, he was committed.

Letchworth Village is a state institution for the care and development of boys who have committed crimes and misdemeanors or who have become unmanageable by their parents. It is intended primarily for children whose mentality has not been fully developed, and the boys are taught useful pursuits which will make them capable of earning their own livelihood.

There was a decided difference in the appearance in Newkirk Monday and when he was arraigned in county court some time ago. At that time he was dressed in old clothes which were somewhat ragged, and he had a bedraggled appearance. Monday he was dressed in a new suit which had been contributed by some one who had become interested in his case, and his actions indicated that he appreciated the change which had been accomplished in his appearance and intended to look at life in a new way.

Mrs. Laura MacMillan took Newkirk to Letchworth Village this morning.

LINE TUNNEL WITH COPPER.

Castkill Aqueduct Repairs Will Cost $150,000 More.

The fine cracks discovered in the quarter-mile section of the Castkill aqueduct tunnel in Manhattan will necessitate repairs amounting to at least $150,000. In order to cause as little tearing up of the present work as possible a novel method is proposed. The plan is to leave the tunnel itself intact and place within a thin copper lining. In spite of this device, the work will be attended with great difficulties, as the tube is far below the street, and it will be necessary to tear up pavement and covers and remove valves to get access to the section.

The trouble is said to be due to some springs which were not discovered when the tunnel was first laid and for which no allowance was made. It is believed these springs since began to flow and caused seepage into the tunnel. It is expected that the work can be done in five or six months. The tunnel at this point is twelve feet. The specifications call for the use of copper lining 5-6 of an inch in thickness. The sheets are to be joined by brazing and attached to the surface of the existing concrete lining by bolts fastened into the masonry. After completion the tightness of the brazed joints is to be tested by light water pressure on the back of the copper lining.

FRENCH BILLIARDIST CHALLENGES HOPPE FOR WORLD'S TITLE.

New York, Jan. 31.—Through the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, William Cassagnol has challenged Willie Hoppe to play for the world's billiard championship. Cassagnol is willing to play either 18.1 or 18.2 style, both titles being held by Hoppe. At the present time Willie is somewhere in the west giving exhibition matches.

In commenting on the prospects of the Frenchman against Hoppe, one of the billiard experts remarked that, while Cassagnol is one of the best players in the world when he is playing the game for fun, his temperament is such that he would be fairly easy for Hoppe playing for money. The challenge Cassagnol has sent is as follows:

"I herewith wish to challenge Willie Hoppe for the championship of the world at the 18.1 or 18.2 talking style of billiards. The time and place of holding said match, as well as all other details, to be mutually agreed upon.

Inclosed please find check for $100, which I post as forfeit.

Quite the newest wrinkle in motor wear is adaptation of glazed kid to this type of garment. The drooping rimmed hat with its "tam" crown is a charming relief from the usual style of motor hat. The coat is three-quarter length, with deep folds falling from the shoulder. Roomy slit pockets and a high bell collar are practical details.

THE DAILY NEWSPAPER

EVERY YEAR EVERY MONTH EVERY DAY

Newspapers Did It

For two years a certain cereal product struggled for a foothold.

Its owners spent $100,000 in certain forms of promotion, but the business grew backward.

For two successive years the books closed with a loss.

Then the policy was changed. An intensive newspaper campaign was hooked up with definite dealer work.

In three months the company was making money and sales were running way ahead.

Manufacturers who would like more details are invited to write to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

The facts will show why the drift of Manufacturers' Advertising is toward the Daily Newspapers.

CURIOUS ORIGIN OF A LAW

On the 27th of July, 1797, one Peter Thellusson, an English merchant of French birth, died in London, leaving a certain sum to his widow and children and the remainder of his property then amounting to several hundred thousand dollars, to a certain

EPIGRAMS BY PRESIDENTS

Not Many Deathless Sentences Have Been Handed Down to Us.
How very few things which any of our presidents said can anybody recall offhand!
Washington's most frequently quoted phrase is, "In time of peace prepare for war."

John Adams talked all day and wrote all night, but perhaps "the independence forever"—his toast for the very Fourth of July on which he died—is more widely known than any other thought.

The doctrine keeps Monroe's name forever to the front, but his state papers, speeches and letters, like those of Madison, John Quincy Adams, Martin Van Buren, James K. Polk, Andrew Jackson, James M. Smith, John C. Calhoun, William H. Seward, Abraham Lincoln, Andrew Johnson, Ulysses S. Grant, Benjamin Harrison, Grover Cleveland, William McKinley, Taft and many other men of long and honorably in public life, are as devoid of handles—nothing to take hold of.

Rutherford B. Hayes gave us one very fine thought. "He serves his par-best who serves the country best."
Jackson was forever saying "By the eternal!" but what else?
"With malice toward none" and "government of the people," etc., a
Lincoln's masterstrokes. However, h

Preparation of Parchment.
Parchment is the skin of sheep and other animals prepared in sheets and rendered them fit for being written upon.

These are the skins of the animals used for skins. The skins are made from the skins of asses, older calves, wolves and goats. These are similarly prepared. The skin being freed from the hair, is placed in a lime pit to cleanse it from fat. The hair is then stretched upon a frame and being taken that the surface is free from wrinkles. The flesh is par-

Then the workman, with a pumice stone, rubs the skin. He next goes over it with an iron instrument and rubs it carefully with pumice stone without chalk. Finally the skin is gradually dried, tightening being occasionally required.

To Lengthen Life of Necktie.
A good many people who are users of four-in-hand ties are more or less bothered by the tie's becoming useless after it has been worn a few times. Take the wide end of the tie and steam up and lay it flat upon a table.

Home Grown Oats Best.
The Maine agricultural experimenter heritance in cats proved the idea correct among farmers that foreign grown seed is better than home grown to have on a little basis. As the Journal of Heredity notes, a variety frequently behaves much better after it has been acclimated for a year or two.

Wealth of Nations.
The wealth of nations is counted in terms of "true valuation of real and personal property."
